

Zoya Mabuto-Mokoditsoa has a proven track record in educational interventions that focus on assisting women in positions of leadership or aspiring towards it, to own the power of their voice, increase their influence and make an impact.

She is passionate about how public speaking can ignite the leadership qualities of individuals, and helps individuals find their voice and tell their story, making them better professionals and creating a healthier and more productive organisation.

She is focused on forging meaningful relationships with her clients to deliver quality, high-impact programmes. She has collaborated with institutions such as Duke Corporate Education (Duke University; USA), Gordon Institute of Business Science (GIBS), Johannesburg Business School (JBS), The Networking Company and Worldview Academy to deliver public speaking/presentation skills and leadership development programmes.

As a Southern African Public Speaking Champion, who uses her voice to deliver presentations that inspire and uplift the audience, Zoya's experience as a Speaker spans almost a decade in the areas of Leadership Development and Presentation Skills.

She challenges her audiences with thought provoking calls to action in the hope that they may find a renewed sense of gung-ho, to boldly step out and lead in an increasingly complex world.

As an opening speaker, Zoya will captivate the audience and set the tone for the day's proceedings. This punchy opener is intended to invigorate, inspire and get audiences invested in what lies ahead.

As a closing speaker, Zoya will deliver a memorable yet concise closing message to conclude any event. Her positive approach and desire for results will prompt audiences to action beyond the event.

Her keynote addresses are intended to inform and educate audiences whilst inspiring them to reflect on their own lives and organisations, and to take the necessary action.

They are powerful, packed talks that are guaranteed to make your event memorable and worthwhile. Zoya delivers her keynotes with sensitivity to subject matter, humour and audience engagement.

She speaks on Leadership, Trust in Teams and Motivation.

As a speaking coach, she does both one-on-one and group coaching, and has incorporated Digital Presentation Skills into her offering.
