

Keynote Speaker David Allison

Suggested Introduction Script

David Allison is a human values expert, the CEO of a global research firm, a two-time best-selling author, and founder of the Valuegraphics Project. After a million surveys in 152 languages his research on human values is changing how we understand people so profoundly...even textbooks used on campuses around the world include his work. He speaks internationally and consults with innovative organizations like PayPal, lululemon, Google, and the United Nations Foundation. He's here today to change the way you look at yourself, the people around you, and the people you hope to impact with your work. So please help me welcome David Allison.

Optional Introductory Video

Audio Visual & Stage Set-Up Notes:

- large presentation screen(s)
- comfort monitor
- empty stage (no other furniture/podium/chairs etc.)
- water
- wireless remote
- lapel or headset microphone plus handheld microphone
- slide deck will be sent in advance
- slide deck does not require video, audio, or internet
- permission is granted to share the deck after the keynote

Values are the answer.
Let's put them to work.